Roulette is a game that requires you to guess which number/collection of numbers will appear on the roulette wheel. To decide which number/s appear, the wheel spins in one direction and a small ball is spun in the other direction by a croupier.

This

combination of opposing spins ensures that the croupier has no control over the outcome. Indeed, it's virtually impossible to predict where the ball is going to stop because the speed and force of each spin will always be slightly different.

Once the ball comes to a stop, the number it lands on will determine whether you're a winner or not. To show you what we mean, let's run through a quick scenario:

You walk up to a

European roulette table and place three chips on the following: 12, Red and 3rd 12. At this point, your bets will have covered the following number of options 12 = one number, Red = 18 numbers, 3rd 12 = 12 numbers. The wheel is spun, and the croupier calls time. This means the ball is about to be spun and your bets are locked on the roulette board. Eventually, the ball stops on the number 34. Because 34 is a red number located in the 3rd 12 section of the board, two of your bets have won. If we take the same scenario but the ball stops on 13, you'd lose because this number isn't 12, is black and is in the 2nd 12 section of the roulette table.

That, in a nutshell, is how roulette works. The reason it's become popular with players of all skill levels is that you can be as general or specific as you like. For those that want high returns, you can bet on individual numbers. For those that prefer to win more frequently, outside bets are better.
